A Little About Who We Are:

AzureGreen is the name that encompasses our relationship with the green growing earth and the azure waters and sky that sustain it. AzureGreen is a gateway of Fairy magic. It is a realm created by practical idealists to exemplify our philosophies, and provide the reality check that improves and refines them.

It is our philosophy that living should be done in a threefold balance of Action, Awareness, and Relationship. We begin with awareness of our purpose for being upon earth, proceed to act upon it in relation to the other beings and purposes encountered. Awareness of that relation to other beings and larger purposes renews the cycle of action. We act to enhance the harmony of our relationships with the many beings of the living Earth, and to pursue the purpose of spiritual growth.

The business was created to be a discipline and point of focus for magical work and spiritual growth. "Magic" involves not only shifting of consciousness (or awareness) at will, but also involves that poetic dance of harmonizing our energies and purpose with others. We live and work in a setting of creative magic among people, and in a place, whose mindset and actions enhance awareness of the spiritual life present in the painted scenery of material life.

Our company is ever evolving, as we ourselves are. In the years to come, AzureGreen will develop new products to enhance the magic in one's life. We'll pursue the relationships and actions for expressing the liveliness and honor of the Old Ways. We treat our livelihood as spiritual work and as though it is what we intend to do with our time.

AzureGreen is:

Adair, Tamarin, Cindy, Buffie, Merlin, Sally, Steve, Amy, Anita, Juanita, Dodie, Vic, Lis, Kim, Josh, Christie, David, Nikki, Craig, Saraluna and Jacob.

Product Availability:

Due to our ever-changing inventory, products can quickly become unavailable or discontinued without warning. We will inform you when an item is on backorder or is no longer available when you place your order. For up to date information on all our products, visit our web page at www.AzureGreen.com.

PRICES ARE SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE.
FOR UP TO DATE LISTINGS, PLEASE VISIT OUR WEBSITE.

Business Hours:

AzureGreen is open Monday thru Friday between 9:30 am and 6:00pm EST.

Payment Methods:

AzureGreen accepts Visa, MasterCard, Discover, Checks, and Money Orders, as well as PayPal payments. We will need your billing address, full name, and three digit CCV code (located on the back of your card) in order to process your Credit Card. All Paypal payments should be made to Azuredist@Yahoo.com. Pay Pal can also process American Express, so through Pay Pal we can accept payment from that credit card as well.

Backorders:

When an item you have ordered is not in stock here at AzureGreen our normal course of action is to leave the item on your order if it is over $5.00 and ship it directly to you when it comes back in stock. If the item is under $5.00 it will be removed from your order and you will need to reorder it next time. Unless other arrangements have been made, this is how we handle back orders, and out of stock items. This pertains to continental US orders only.

Return Policy:

If you need to return product to AzureGreen you must contact us within 30 days of receipt by emailing Returns@AzureGreen.com or by calling us at 413 623 2155 ext 305. You must have the original invoice number to reference. AzureGreen will only accept items for return that are approved and given an RMA number. Returns will be subject to a 10% restocking fee. If you are missing merchandise from your order, or have received damaged items, put the package aside and contact us within 10 days so that we may get the issue resolved in a timely manner.

Ordering with AzureGreen:

AzureGreen offers a wide variety of ordering options, including sending in your order by mail, phone, fax, and email, or you can easily place your order on our web store, www.AzureGreen.com. You can place your order through email by emailing Orders@azuregreen.com.

Thor's Hammers

Mjolnir, or Thor's Hammer, comes to us from Norse mythology as one of the most powerful weapons wielded by one of the most powerful gods. Capable of leveling mountains, it is said that it would strike whatever he threw it at and would always find its way back to his hand, and when he wished it could be small enough that he could carry it within his tunic. Today, it is commonly worn as a symbol of faith to many Germanic pagan and Norse faiths. Thor's Hammer has also begun to be a powerful symbol for the Pagan and Wiccan men's movement as well, a source of respected masculinity and strength.

Bindrune (Thor's Hammer)

This beautiful piece of jewelry is crafted in the image of Thor's Hammer. Made of English pewter and marvelously sculpted, it presents numerous patterns of Norse design. The front facing of the hammer is etched with a series of runes which together are collectively known as a Bindrune. These runes, paired in twos, come together to represent long-lasting joy and prosperity attained through life, courage and wisdom in finding opportunities, and the health, strength of will and determination to succeed. Hanging approximately 1 3/4" long, this necklace comes on an 18 1/4" long, serpentine styled chain that closes with a clasp. $34.95 #JBP338

Box of Aragonite

Forming in clusters, argonite is a beautiful crystal created in biological and physical processes, including the precipitation of salt or fresh water. This has resulted in it being found caves and other damp places where such water drips and gathers. Indeed, aragonite is part of the formation of "cave flowers," or formations of mineral deposits within caves. Interestingly, aragonite is also regarded as "unstable." This is due to the fact that if its temperature is increased significantly without increasing the pressure of its environment it will spontaneously convert to calcite. They are also renowned for their calming properties. To this end, aragonite is widely believed to aid in helping to control anger and other forms of emotional turmoil. This is a 15 1/2" by 9 1/2" box of argonite crystals, containing approximately 30 crystal clusters, measuring an average of 2" in diameter, though exact numbers vary with the sizes and shapes of the crystals found in each box.

Captured with vivid detail, a fossilized trilobite is displayed within each of these stones. Trilobites are found in ancient layers of stone, appearing to have disappeared in a mass extinction about 250 million years ago, making it all the more awe inspiring to hold the remnants of this ancient creature in your hand. A diverse group of creatures, trilobites came in a wide variety of shapes and sizes, and hunted the seas, scavenged sea beds, and fed on plankton. Each of these fossils is therefore unique, and varying slightly in exact size and appearance from others. Add it to your collection of stones and minerals today, or use it in your ritual crafts as a powerful representation of the ancient power of nature and time itself to empower your magic and spells.

Salt Lamp

Colored with natural minerals, such as iron, these lamps are wonderful examples of the natural wonders that can be found within the earth. Each lamp is created with a large piece of Himalayan rock salt that has had its core hollowed out, and has been fastened to a sturdy wooden base. This allows for the small light that comes with it to be placed within the piece of rock salt, creating a warm, pink glow that is great for creating a soothing atmosphere in whatever room it is placed. Further, as these lamps heat up it is believed that they create healing ions, which are believed to help balance your electromagnetic field, purify the air, and generally help create a sense of serenity. Each lamp is approximately 6 1/2" by 4", however, the exact sizes will vary, as the salt is left in its raw form and is a natural product of the earth. Each also comes with a light bulb and cord that can be plugged into any standard U.S. socket.

Mortars & Pestles

The grinding of herbs, both sacred and savory has been done with the mortar and pestle since before the times of the earliest recorded medical texts. Though we have long had other means of grinding and mixing herbs, many people find there is no substitute for the care and attention that using a mortar and pestle provides.

Square Black Mortar and Pestle Sets

Carved in a most unusual design, the mortar of this mortar and pestle set is actually in the shape of a 3" by 3" by 3" cube, with every side squared off. Elegantly carved of soapstone, the whole surface has been glazed black, with a design carved into each side, revealing the natural coloring of the stone beneath. The squared basin within has rounded corners to help keep the material you are grinding from getting stuck, and easily accommodates the 4 1/4" long pestle that comes with it, making it a fantastic and unique tool for your alchemy, herbal remedies, and ritual magic. $18.95

Oil Diffusers

Oil diffusers use the heat produced by a candle or light bulb to release the scent of the oils they contain and diffuse it about the room. A wonderful way to scent your home or ritual space without the smoke or ash of incense, you should not leave your oil diffuser unattended as oils can be quite flammable.

Santa Muerte Oil Diffuser

In reverence of Santa Muerte, or Holy Death, this oil diffuser is a perfect addition to your altar, home or sacred space. Standing atop a pentagram ringed with an ivy design, three statues of Santa Muerte are positioned in a triangle, each with their hands outstretched to hold a glass plate that has a bowl-shaped depression for you to fill with oil. Beneath this, at the center of the pentagram, is a holder for a tealight candle worked into the design of a cauldron. This design makes for a powerful way of carrying your offering and your prayers to Santa Muerte. It measures 8 1/4" in diameter and 8 1/4" tall, and is sculpted entirely of hand painted cold cast resin. $ 48.95 #OD499

Magic Circle Oil Diffuser

The Maiden, Mother, and Crone gather together around the flame of a tealight candle, supporting a glass vessel in their upturned palms. Made out of cold-cast resin and decorated with hand painted vines and ivy, this 6" tall oil diffuser uses the heat of a tealight candle beneath a glass bowl to release the scent of your favorite oil throughout your sacred spaces. The base of this piece is sturdy; 5 3/4" in width and quite thick, to prevent any accidental spillage of oil or candle wax.

$ 26.95 #OD127

Brass Pentagram Oil Diffuser New

A unique piece for the altar and home, this oil diffuser features an open design, with the oil tray supported above the candle holder by three slender brass pillars. Measuring approximately 4" in diameter, it is primarily composed of a base plate and a supporting ring which contains a removable glass oil basin. Both this ring and the base plate are brass plated with white metal, resulting in a silvery gloss that will boldly display your candle light. Between the foremost pillars is a brass plate sculpted into the image of an upright pentagram. The brass will help reflect your candle light, adding to the atmosphere of your room while you are conducting your ritual, and otherwise help transfer heat to the glass basin where your oil is place. The entire piece stands approximately 5 1/4" in height, allowing it to work with tealights as well as votive candles. $ 30.95 #OD563

Twin Fairies Oil Diffuser

This enchanting oil diffuser, made of cold cast resin, presents the lovely image of twin fairies. Kneeling with their backs to each other while their skirts, seemingly made of flower petals, meld together to form the resting place for a tea light candle. Their open butterfly wings spread backwards to cleverly form a cradle for the 4 1/4" diameter basin for the oil. The whole sculpted image of mirrored, fae beauty is 5 1/2" wide and 3 3/4" high.

Soapstone Pentagram Cubic Oil Diffuser

Sculpted from soapstone with meticulous care, this little oil diffuser is beautifully decorated with cut-outs of pentagrams that allow your tealight or votive's light to spill out into the room in which it burns. For ease of cleaning and care, the small basin for your scented oil is removable, allowing you to more easily clean it after use. This soapstone oil diffuser measures approximately 3" high, 2 1/2" wide, and 2 1/2" deep.

What Is the Difference In Oils Anyway ?

The standard production of natural oils involves mixing the natural oil blended with a carrier oil, such as almond oil. By doing this the cost of the oil is decreased, and it becomes easier to use without overwhelming the senses.

Essential oils are the completely pure oils, most often steam distilled from massive amounts of the plant in question. They are very strong, and require a gentle hand when it comes to using them. The cost for essential oils can often be prohibitive, with essential rose oil (as an example) costing well over a thousand dollars for only a scant amount. Further, essential oils are so strong that they can seep in through the skin, making hitting toxic levels a possibility with large quantities, particularly for pregnant women. But, other than that small risk, these are the best and purist oils around.

The oil essences are the compromise between the two, not as strong or as expensive as essential oils, they contain far less carrier oil than the natural oils do, making for a purer product. Also, some oils cannot be made as pure essential oils, and in these cases, we have the oil essences to provide for people who want as pure an oil as possible.

El Destructor Oil New

This 4 oz. bottle of El Destructor oil is a powerful oil intended to help protect you from your enemies and destroy their evil influence. Often used in magical ritual, the instructions which are written in Spanish, have been interpreted and translated into a non-denominational ritual as follows: You are to write upon a sheet of parchment in magical ink the name of your enemy seven times in seven rows and then speak a prayer of protection, beseeching the God, Goddess or Saints you worship in the strongest words and passion you know for the protection you seek. Then you pour the oil onto the scroll and bind the scroll you created within the red cord, and speak "Just as I tie this scroll, so I bind the evil thoughts, resentment, and bad intentions and your will or strength. In the name of (the God, Goddess, or Saints you worship) you cannot harm me." And then, at the end of the ritual and in a safe fashion in a ventilated space, the parchment you used to create the scroll is burned, making the evil thoughts, curses and powers of your enemy disappear without causing harm. This oil is for external use only. $10.95 #OELDE

New Grey Amber Perfume Oil

Based upon a tale of love rooted within the sagas of the legendary German figure Siegfried, grey amber perfume is intended to be used as an aphrodisiac and to assist you in powerful love spells. Abra Melin This potent incense is born of an old recipe used in an invocation for knowledge and conversation, particularly with your Holy Guardian Angel. This makes it ideal for use in spells where you wish to commune with otherworldly powers. It has also been known to be used to aid in bending others to your will. Whether you then wish to lead them to harm or a more beneficial path is entirely up to you. #IGNABR

Kyphi An ancient Egyptian formula used in all important rituals, Kyphi is sacred to the God Kephra. Made from sixteen ingredients, its creation is started at the new moon with ingredients slowly being added until fruition at the full moon. This makes this potent resin incense particularly good for all rituals and spells involving dreams or the enhancement of psychic abilities.

#IGNKYP

Pan Pan is the god associated as the guardian of nature spirits, and is often depicted as a merry satyr, playing pipes. This incense is designed to touch his essence, and use it in aiding you to connect with the spirits of the earth. Use it to represent these nature spirits and Pan himself in your rituals or to seek out and obtain the fervor of life and the passion for experience that Pan is so frequently said to possess. This potent incense is wonderful then, for aiding in seeking renewed energy and enthusiasm for yourself and others. #IGNPAN

Sensual This delightful incense is intended to capture the very nature of a sensual mood so that when you burn it, the air is filled with an invigorating fragrance that helps relax the body and stimulate the senses. This makes it a fantastic incense for enhancing the atmosphere of the room in which it is burned or using in spell and ritual, particularly when one is seeking magic that involves the senses, or when one is trying to work a spell to attract the one you love, the one you lust for, or generally rekindle romance within affection that already exists. #IGNSEN

Boxed Amber Resin New

A small, rosewood box decorated with ornate cutouts that allow the sensual aroma of amber to gently fill the air. It comes with either golden amber or spicy amber resin, which possesses a deep, layered fragrance that is less sweet. These incenses from Auric Blends are intended to be left within the box, acting as a natural room or air freshener. Coming in quantities of 4 grams, they are all natural, and come from the Himalayan mountains of India. $ 9.95

Carefully sculpted of soapstone, this beautiful incense burner is equally capable of holding your stick or cone incense. Coming with a separate base and cap, it takes the form of a tall column, carved with elaborate Buddhist designs, intended to aid you within your meditations even as the cut-outs within them allow the smoke of your incense to escape. Just place your incense cone or incense stick in the base and place the column over top after lighting; it's easy to clean and easier to use. Each incense burner is approximately 12" in height and 3" in diameter.

Wood Handled Brass Burner

This cleverly designed brass incense burner is an elegant design, intended to be used with your cone, resin, granular or powder incense. Standing 4 1/2" tall, it is approximately 2 1/2" wide at its widest point and has a removable, conical cap perforated with a pattern of oval and circular holes to allow air in and fragrance and smoke out. The stand out feature for this burner however is the 6 1/2" long handle that extends from the side. Beginning as brass and then turning into a wooden design, allowing for comfortable carrying when the burner is hot, it allows you to move your incense during your ritual or bring it outside for your spell, when you might not have a good place to set your burner down. $ 20.95 #IBBCC

Brass Cone Incense Burner New

This small incense burner is an elegant solution for those who wish to include incense upon their altar but lack the space for larger burners. The burner measures only approximately 3 3/4" tall and about 1 3/4" in diameter. Its wide makes it surprisingly difficult to tip despite its long slender neck, which ends in a wide dish to hold your cone incense. This in turn is covered with a small lid, punctured by three star cut outs and a conical chimney for ventilation.

$ 5.95 #IB7362

New Brass Incense Burner

Created with an elegant, chalice-like design, this incense burner has been created entirely with brass, and comes with a cap that settles into place, helping to keep sparks from flying free of the ignited incense once it has been set aflame. It is further accented by several star-shaped cut outs that release smoke and allow air in so the incense can burn steadily. The entire burner measures approximately 5 1/2" high and 2 1/2" wide at its widest point, making it a delicate accent for any altar space.

Pentagram-Topped Brass Incense Burner

This incense burner is a fantastic blend of function and symbolism. Made of brass, it has the traditional three-legged base supporting a bottom tray, which in turn is capped by an ornate top. This top is decorated with a pattern of three stars, and tapers from the burner's widest point to a narrow tip, upon which rests the five pointed, interwoven pentagram. Measuring 5 3/4" high it will fit perfectly upon your altar, and can easily burn cone incense or serve in burning powder and granular incense as well.

$ 9.95 #IB72P

New Temple Incense Burner

Perfectly suited for your own little sacred space or temple, this brass incense burner features a short, wide design that easily fits within your array of sacred icons, candles and ritual tools. Its base measures 4" wide and with its lid in place it measures 3" high. The lid is conical in design, with a symmetrical design of three star-shaped cut outs, that allow smoke to escape even as they allow air in for your burning incense.

Mother of Pearl Brass Temple Burner

Sculpted of brass, this incense burner is shaped into the common design of a wide basin, fitted with a conical lid. The basin, measuring 4" in diameter at its widest point, has a 2 1/4" diameter base that flares outward and then curls, narrowing to a 3 1/4" rim. This rim, upon which sits the burner's conical cap, is lined in delicate plates of mother of pearl. These plates perfectly accent the brass. The cap itself tapers to a point, and is decorated on three sides with a triangle pattern of stars that allow smoke and fragrance out while air circulates in. The whole burner measures 3" in height.

New Large Heads of Pan Incense Burner

A beautifully unique piece for the sacred space or altar, this incense burner has been crafted of solid brass in a stylized representation of the god Pan. A triangular base provides the structure for three slender legs, rooted in an image of a goat's hoof, that rise up into the image of Pan's head. From each of these legs, goat horns rise up to support an egg-shaped burner, intended to contain your charcoal for burning your resin, granular and powder incenses. The top half of the burner is removable, with numerous ventilation holes concealed within a scaled pattern sculpted into the brass, that allows fragrant smoke to escape and necessary oxygen to enter so your incense can continue burning evenly. The whole of the piece, with the exception of highlights upon the burner itself, has been colored a rich, earthy maroon. It measures approximately 10" tall and 4 1/2" wide at its widest point.

Byzantine Burner

With a styling reminiscent of the ancient Byzantine empire, this incense burner stands upon a 2 3/4" base, perforated in a decorative design, the gold-toned metal rises up from four beveled legs that support the wider burner. This burner, resting at 3" in diameter, contains a red tray that can be seen through the perforated metal, providing a wonderful accent to the gold hue. This tray is designed to hold your charcoal and powder, resin or granular incense as it burns and provide ease of cleaning as it can be removed. The lid, punctured with a design that allows fragrant smoke to escape even as it lets air in, tapers sharply from the width of the burner to a fluted handle that extends above, providing an overall height of 6 3/4".

Pentagram Tealight Wall Sconce

This tealight wall sconce is a delightful mingling of functional design, spiritual meaning and artistic splendor. Made of cold cast resin, it presents the image of an encircled pentagram; a star with a circle around it, traditionally representing the four elements of earth, air, fire and water with the fifth point representing spirit residing over all of them. Here, each of the five points extends beyond the circle in an arch and flared design much like that of an old wrought iron fence, with a small cup for a tealight candle accenting each of the five points. Decorating the entire circle, and each of the tealight holders, is a flowering, natural appearing pattern of green ivy leaves, that wonderfully illustrate and combine with the pentagram symbol to represent the mystery within nature and the coexistence of everything. Approximately 15" long and 15" wide, it possesses a small angled hoop for hanging it on your wall or your altar, making this tealight wall sconce perfect for lighting your rituals or simply displaying as an enchanting decoration.

With one blue and one red, their wings open as though they are in flight, their upper wings overlapping to form the point of the star, their other wings flare out to form the right and left points, while their tails create the bottom two. An elaborate design, it is both beautiful and thought provoking, with both dragons seemingly rivaling each other for the silver-toned sphere that shines in the middle, creating a sense of mystical unity even as it provides an impression of two very different forces. The whole wall hanging measures approximately 10 1/2" tall and 11" wide, making it great for hanging over your altar space or where ever else you might enjoy its beauty.

Cat and Pentagram Wall Plaque

This cold-cast resin wall plaque is hand painted in the tones of the forest, with muted greens and rustic brown highlights, playing perfectly into the knotted designs and brighter green leaves that frame the whole design. At its center rests a pentagram, woven around a crescent moon, marked with its own pattern of Celtic knotwork that makes it stand out while still seamlessly part of the whole design. At the heart of the pentagram resides a black cat, sitting upon the curve of the moon, looking out upon the world around it. Measures 7 1/2" in diameter.

Greenman Fountain

Wonderfully crafted with rich detail and flowing design, this wall hanger adds a soothing presence in any room of your home. Standing 15 3/4" long, 8 1/2" wide, and 6" deep, it takes the form of a 4" deep, sculpted water basin rimmed with a flowing Celtic knot design. Framed within those same knots is the leafed face of a fully-foliage green man, with his wizened features framed by the leafy foliage that forms his hair and beard, while his parted lips form the fountain from which the water spills, splashing down into a sculpted, clam-shell basin beneath his chin where it pools before spilling into the deeper bowl below. The whole of this piece is formed out of durable hand-painted cold cast resin.

Greenman and Gargoyle Fountain

Brilliantly sculpted of cold-cast resin, this fountain presents a formidable display of medieval imagery. Perched on either side of the fountain's basin, two gargoyles crouch with their leathery wings folded close to their back. Their canine faces are upturned, gazing into the face of the Greenman who appears within a brick wall, framed by an ivy and a stone circle. From his mouth trickles a stream of water that the gargoyles catch in a shell-shaped bowl, with the overflow spilling to disappear into the grated basin by the guardians' feet. Standing 12" tall, 8 1/2" wide, and 6" deep this fountain is perfect for any desk or shelf. Coming with a pump and an electric cord that is approximately 6' in length, the basin that holds the water is approximately 2" high, 7 1/2" wide at its widest point, and 4 1/2" deep.

Venetian Wall Masks

Venetian Patrizia Wall Mask

Bringing you to the revelry and merriment of il Carnevale di Venezia, this hall hanging takes the form of a Venetian mask for carnival; a festival that began in the 11th century, where carnival masks allowed party-goers to mingle and revel without being recognized, and indeed step outside of their normal selves. This mask displays the elaborate ornamentation often found upon such masks, with decidedly feminine features accented by floral designs and the image of a peacock, which forms the left side of the mask, with its beautiful feathers creating a flourish that accents the entire piece, from top to bottom. Made of cold cast resin, this wall mask is hand painted to give the impression that it is created from sculpted bronze. It measures approximately 13 1/4" in length and 6 1/2" wide. $48.95 #SM529

Venetian Rosa Wall Mask

Drawing upon the masks that are at the center of the Venetian festival of il Carnevale di Venezia for inspiration, this wall mask is an enchanting decoration, suitable for any home or office. With a design that mingles flamboyance and elegance, this piece closely emulates the costumes and masks that permeated the festival. Here, you can easily picture this delicately feminine mask and the wide brimmed hat that are depicted being put to such use. With the mask and floral patterns portrayed in muted bronze tones, the rest is colored in deep shades of blue and purple, and accented by touches of deep red to the decorative flowers and lips. Standing 10 1/2" tall and 9 1/2" wide at its widest point, this piece is wonderfully sculpted of cold-cast resin. $48.95 #SM528

Venetian Liliana Wall Mask

This elegant wall mask with pearl flower and butterfly designs, is made out of hand painted cold-cast resin in beautifully subdued bronze tones. Such masks are an essential feature of il Carnevale di Venezia. The practice of wearing masks for disguise reached its peak in the 18th century when Venetians of different social classes used Carnevale as an excuse to mingle and, in some case, to find illicit adventures without fear of recognition or retribution. Measuring 13" in length and 5 1/2" at its widest point, this wall mask is a great accent to any room, home or office. This very unique and collectible piece is sure to become the highlight of your collection. $47.95 #SM527

Life-Sized Greenman Plaque

The Greenman is the leafy figure seen peeking out from many an ancient structure throughout Europe, often sculpted into the design of buildings of state and even churches. With an old, wizened face that sprouts leafy foliage for hair, he has come to be revered as a deity of nature, and is sometimes associated with the horned god. He is often viewed as a symbol of the powerful ability of nature to be born anew as it goes through its yearly cycle, with so many plants and animals reborn with time's passing. This wall plaque captures that unbridled, wild power that he represents and comes as close as any still-life might. In life sized proportions, the Greenman is displayed with wild eyes and wise features, with green leaves sprouting to form his hair, beard and mustache. In this portrayal he would seem almost a ferocious thing, though the kindness and wisdom can still be recognized within his features; a clear reminder of the untamed manner of all things born of nature. The plaque hangs approximately 17" long and 14" wide, providing for you the perfect ornament for your sacred space. $61.95 #SG295

Statuary

Much of our statuary selection is made of handpainted cold-cast resin. This durable material allows for more intricacy than many other mediums. The level of detail on many of these pieces is so great you can actually see the expression on their faces. This, combined with the satisfying weight of statuary made through this process, has made our cold-cast resin statues a long-time customer favorite.

Emperor of the Woodlands Statue

Draped in robes of a rich, earthy brown and the royal purple, this statue depicts a youthful version of the Horned God. Splendid in his natural authority, he is crowned with the horns that sprout from his brow and three leaves that mark him as the ruler of his domain. With enchanted markings running up his arm and newly-grown trees and vines tangling about his legs, he seems a man of barely restrained wildness, for all of his grace, with all of the power of nature represented by a swirling orb he holds in his hands, containing the head and serpent form of a dragon. Standing 9" tall, this statue is sculpted from cold cast resin with wonderful attention to detail. $29.95 #SE665

Elemental Goddess of Earth Statue

The Goddess is often spoken of and revered as the heart of the earth; as the creator of life or the place from which all life springs. Sculpted of cold-cast resin, here she rises from the earth as an elder tree, with grasses and vines sprouting up from its base and surrounding the trunk. This elder tree rises up and the bark fades away, smoothing into the skin of the goddess's body, with brown hair flowing in the wind and her eyes closed as she basked serenely in the world around her; a beautiful symbol of elder life and knew, of her feminine power blended with that of nature as the power of life renews itself. This powerful image of the Earth Goddess stands 5 1/2" wide at its widest point, and 9" high, making for a delightful addition to your altar, or where ever else in your home you might want to view her in all of nature's majesty. $42.95 #SE579

Tyr Shackling Fenrir

Recreating a scene of legend and bravery within Norse, this sculpture depicts the epic legend of the brave Norse god Tyr aiding in the shackling of the legendary Fenrir. Fenrir, the child of Loki, was said to be a great wolf of fierce anger and cunning. He was foretold to be the one who would kill the god Odin during the events of Ragnarok, and otherwise sew great trouble and turmoil throughout the world. For this reason, the Gods bound him in shackles but try as they might, the beast broke every chain they put upon him. The dwarves finally came then and created an unbreakable magic ribbon called Gleipnir, which could not be broken but Fenrir could not be tricked into being bound. At last the brave god of single combat, glory and victory stepped forward and stilled Fenrir, with his hand placed within the wolf's mouth. So lulled, the wolf was bound with the Gleipnir, and the Gods rejoiced, but in a fit of anger Fenrir bit off Tyr's hand, and forever after he was known as the one-handed god. This statue beautifully portrays this scene straight out of Norse mythology. Sculpted of cold-cast resin, the whole is created in amazing detail, with the stern lines of Tyr's face accented by the hammer marks on his helm displaying an equal brilliance as the shaggy coat of the fierce Fenrir. Further, the whole possesses a metallic sheen that gives the impression that the whole statue has been cast in bronze. The whole scene is approximately 11" wide and 10" tall, you can easily use it to accent a bookshelf, desk, or your altar to find inspiration in the bravery of Tyr. $ 80.95 #ST008

Norse and Viking Statuary

Thor with Mjolnir

In this brilliant sculpture we find a mighty image of the Norse god of thunder, Thor. Richly detailed, the fearsome deity is depicted as a warrior, scarred and muscled from years of swinging his magical hammer, Mjolnir, which was said to return to him after being thrown and to possess the power to hurl lightning. Known as the frequent protector of the gods and humanity, he is also girded with his magical belt, Megingjord and the iron bracers, Jarngreipr, which magically increased his strength, allowing him to heft his mighty hammer in battle against the giants. Indeed, he may well be shown waging his battle against them here, as he seems poised to strike with every muscle taut and Mjolnir raised high above his head, to throw at his enemies before it would magically return to his hand, allowing him to continue the fight. This vivid statue possesses a heavy weight, and is crafted expertly of cold cast resin before being painted so as to possess the same luster and color of sculpted bronze, making it a fantastic piece for desks, bookshelves, altars or any other place around the home or office that you might wish to display the glory of Thor. This statue measures approximately 10 1/2" high and 5 1/2" wide.

Odin Statue

Sculpted of cold-cast resin and painted in muted tones that leave him seemingly sculpted of brass, is depicted the ruler of the Norse pantheon, Odin. It was he who received the souls of valiant warriors that died in battle and the women he favored become the legendary valkyries. Primarily the lord of wisdom, war, battle, and death he was also known to have held sway over magic, poetry, prophecy, victory, and the hunt. Here he is shown sitting regally upon his throne, Hlidskjalf, from which he could see everything that happened in the universe, with a stern, bearded face. Girded for battle, he seems as though he could be overseeing a council of war, with his ravens Huginn and Munninn (thought and memory) close at hand while the wolves Geri and Freki rest close by his feet, seeking the scraps from his table. Standing 10" tall and 8 1/2" wide, this statue is perfect for any who revere the Norse pantheons.

Thor, Triumphant

Drawn up defiantly with his mighty hammer Mjolnir raised above his head and the loyal goats, Tanngrisnir and Tanngrjostr, who pulled his chariot by his feet, this formidable statue of Thor presents a fantastic image. As the Norse god of lightning and a frequent protector of the Gods and humanity, Thor is depicted here in cold-cast resin, poised upon a cloud as though preparing to hurl lightning from his magical hammer, to smite some unseen foe or perhaps to cause the storms he lorded over from on high. Richly detailed, even down to the engraving on the belt that girds his fur, this is a delightful piece for all who would celebrate the Norse god.

Valkyrie Bust

The Valkyrie were the beautiful warrior maidens of Norse mythology, who chose brave souls to rise up into the halls of Valhalla to live among the rest of the noble slain as Einherjar. There they lived and hunted, hardening themselves for the last battle of Ragnarok where many might again die by the side of Odin and the other Norse gods and goddesses. For this, the Valkyrie reward them, tending to their wounds and serving them mead. Here, you find the striking features of such a Valkyrie displayed, head and shoulders in a bust. The very picture of feminine beauty, she possesses delicate features concealed by her armor, with long braids spilling from the open face of her winged helmet. Made of cold cast resin, this bust is polished and honed to appear to be crafted of bronze. It measures approximately 11" in height and 7 1/4" wide. $ 48.95 #SV279

Odin Bust

The chief Norse god and ruler of Asgard, Odin is depicted here in this fantastic bust. Known as a patron of wisdom, war, poetry, magic and the hunt, he is displayed here as he is often portrayed; a one-eyed god of aged wisdom and valor. Head and shoulders are shown here, with his cloak swept back over the shoulders and concealing the plates of his armor. From beneath his horned helm, his beard and hair flow out, braided in the Norse fashion to rest upon his chest, but not concealing the firm set of his jaw and the stern line of his eyes, one of which is covered with a patch. Great for the altar or home, this bust stands approximately 11 1/2" tall and 9" wide and is sculpted of cold-cast resin, providing a vivid presence for the Norse chief of Gods where ever you wish to put it. $ 48.95 #SO280

Viking Ship

This viking ship is a detailed, miniature version of the ship for which the Vikings were well known. With it they raided coastal dwellings and established their fearsome reputation that has endured even to this day, and later colonized Iceland, Greenland and even ventured as far west as Newfoundland. At the same time they ventured as far east as Russia and the sprawling city of Constantinople. Here we find every plank detailed down to its grain and the pegs that hold the ship together, accented by rows of brightly colored round shields and swirling patterns that accent the ship's prow and stern. Standing 11" tall and 12" long, this statue is 8" wide from oar tip to oar tip and can be removed from its decorative stand to examine more closely. $ 73.95 #SV740

Loki with Fenrir and Jormungandr

Widely considered the Norse God of Discord, Loki is a mixed blessing upon the Gods of the Norse Pantheon. Though on occasion he did aid them in their efforts, mostly he delighted in causing discord and havoc among the Gods. Indeed, as a shape shifter and trickster, it was he who fathered the goddess Hel, who ruled over a portion of the dead, as well as the world serpent Jormungandr, who grew so large as to encircle the world and Fenrir, the wolf who was foretold to kill the god Odin during Ragnarok. Loki himself was responsible for engineering the death of the god Balder, for which he was finally cast from the gods and bound in the entrails of his son, where a serpent was poised to drip his painful venom upon him. His wife, offering mercy, collects the poison in a bowl, staying at his side until she needs to empty the bowl. During this time the poison strikes Loki, and in his agonized writhing the very world shakes. For this, Loki is foretold to join the forces of the jotnar against the Gods, and fight them during Ragnarok where he is fated to slay and be slain by the god Heimdallr. In this statue, Loki is portrayed as the ominous herald of calamity and strife. Girded for battle and carrying a great axe. With cold mischief vividly portrayed in fantastic detail in the expression of his face and eyes, he pulls aside the edge of his great, furred cloak to reveal Fenrir and Jormungandr, unleashed upon the world and the gods to cause havoc and ruin. Made of cold cast resin, this fantastic sculpture stands 10 1/2" high and 6" wide. Possessing an impressive weight, it is brilliantly painted so as to make the whole sculpture seem to be crafted of fine bronze.

The mother of Horus and the wife and sister of Osiris, Isis is widely revered as one of the most beloved and worshipped Goddesses of Egypt and one of the greatest sorceresses of all time. Associated with the divine powers of marital devotion, motherhood and healing, Isis is said to have brought Osiris back to life and help him become god of the underworld. Here she is displayed in her later form, with wings wide open. Adorning her head are the horns and disc, the hieroglyphic sign for "throne," which marks her station as a symbol of her power and authority. Painted gold, with red, green and blue wings, this wall hanging measures 11 1/4" wide

Bastet in Cat Form

The powerful protector goddess of lower Egypt, Bastet's, or Bast's, very name means "the devourer," indicating the ferocity for which she was known in defending her own. Poseidon in the Storm Statue

The Greek god of the sea and earthquakes, two powerful and unpredictable forces of nature, Poseidon is a deity often noted with a mixture of trepidation and awe. Indeed, he was often regarded as the protector of many Greek cities, whose economy and well being frequently depended upon the bounty and trade that the sea could provide. Those who would travel the sea would sometimes even drown horses in sacrifice to Poseidon, seeking his favor. He is spoken of in many legends, and reputedly fathered many of the Greek heroes spoken of in legend, and is a prominent figure in Homer's tales, aiding the Greeks during the Iliad, actively seeking to aid them in their battles against the Trojans, while in the Odyssey, he turns his hatred upon Odysseus for blinding his son, the Cyclops Polyphemus and prevents Odysseus from reaching his home of Ithaca for many years. Here we find this bold and mythic god posed in a form at one with the sea. With turbulent waves crashing about him, he is shown to have the lower body of a fish, and the upper body of a muscular man. His bearded face is contorted in anger, with his trident poised back to strike in wrath and cause the earthquakes and crashing waves for which he was feared. With the removable trident in place the statue stands approximately 12 1/2" tall and 6" wide, making a formidable addition to any altar or eye-catching ornament for desks and book shelves. The majestic god is crafted of cold-cast resin and hand painted, so as to create a heavy-weight sculpture that appears to be crafted of bronze.

Centaur Statue

Viewed in a duality that matches their form, Centaurs are often considered to possess an untamed nature, embodying the thunder and beauty of a wild herd of horses, leaving them prone to drinking, carousing and even violence, they are also often depicted as wise teachers, like Chiron who was renowned for his knowledge and skill with medicine and was said to have tutored many of the heroes of Greek legend. This statue seems to embody the wild nature of the Centaur, though intelligence and wisdom can still be seen within his marvelously detailed facial features, contorted in rage as they are. With the lower body of a horse, he rears back, kicking with his hooves as, with the upper body of a man, he brandishes his wide shield and prepares to slash out with his sword. Made of cold-cast resin, this statue has been painstakingly crafted so as to appear to be created out of bronze, and so that every detail is captured, from the hair upon the Centaur's chest to the flying hair of his horse-tail. This makes it a fantastic piece for anybody that feels a kinship with this mythical creature, who is both wild and fearsome and a creature of wisdom and healing. It stands approximately 11 1/2" tall and 8 1/2" long, fitting on most desks, altars and book shelves.

Greek & Roman Statuary

Hera Statue

Hera is the queen and sister to Zeus. Known primarily as a goddess of the hearth, women and marriage, she was known to frequently lash out at her adulterous husband, and was quite jealous and vengeful, especially toward mortals who offended her. Hera is one of the eldest Gods of the Greek pantheon, appearing in Homeric legend as the eldest of Kronus's daughters, and she is even believed to predate most Greek folklore, appearing to have been an adaptation of a more primal, Minoan mother goddess. This statue, crafted of cold cast resin and hand painted so as to appear to be bronze, has been carefully detailed to portray Hera with these traits. With an almost youthful demeanor, her motherly wisdom is portrayed in the lines of her face, while her body portrays sinewy vigor and self-assured authority. Wrapped in gossamer robes, she seems to be striding beside the beautifully plumed peacock, which is one of her chief symbols from the legends of ancient Greece. The entire statue measures 9 1/2" tall and 7" wide.

Dionysus Statue

The Greek god of revelry, wine and plenty, Dionysus is often viewed as a deity of hedonism and ecstasy, he was also quite popular among the Romans, who knew him as Bacchus. He was also the patron deity of agriculture and theater, and was known to be a god capable of liberating one from your normal self, by either madness, ecstasy or wine. With these attributes, it was also his divine mission to bring an end to worry and care. Understandably, Dionysus is a God who came to be quite favored, helping ease the burdens of worry in those whom he favors. Here he is shown as he is traditionally spoken of; a beautiful man, with feminine facial features and luxurious hair, robed in the Greek fashion. Entwined with his curly hair, grape vines adorn him like jewelry, even as he raises them to his lips. In his other hand he drags an amphora, heedless of the wine it spills to the ground by his feet; for Dionysus, there is always another jug of wine. All of this is sculpted beautifully of cold cast resin and painted to appear as though it is made of bronze, making it the perfect piece for your altar. This statue stands 10 3/4" high, 4 1/2" wide and 4 1/2" deep.

Artemis Statue

The goddess of forests, virginity and the hunt, Artemis was one of the most widely revered goddesses of ancient Greece, and was the beautiful daughter of Zeus and Leto, and the twin sister to the famed god Apollo. Indeed, she was even said to have been born first, immediately aiding her mother in the birth of Apollo, and for this reason she is often viewed as a goddess of fertility and childbirth. Also known to the Romans as Diana, she is a fearsome woman, often depicted with bow and arrows, and said to have often punished or slew those who offended her or forgot to make offerings to her at the proper times. This is how she is shown in this wonderful statue; a slender young woman, with bow drawn back and arrow knocked, she is a goddess of the hunt with a wolf howling by her feet. From her head sprouts a mantle of stag horns, representative of the animal which was sacred to her, while her feet seem to rest upon the surface of the moon; a symbol that was sacred to the virginal goddess. Made of cold cast resin, the statue stands 11 1/2" tall and 7" wide, and is fantastically painted so as to appear to be sculpted of bronze.

Pan Dancing with Nymphs Statue

Much beloved and celebrated, the god Pan is widely regarded as a carefree god of nature. He is a god of shepherds and flocks, and of mountain wilds, hunting and rustic music. Indeed the piped musical instrument with which he is depicted has become known simply as "Pan-pipes." He is also known for his love of nymphs and women, and was frequently spoken of as chasing them, as they fled his advances. Fields, groves and wooded glens are all considered his places, and because of this he is frequently revered as a god of fertility, and the season of spring. He is most often depicted as a satyr; a man with goat legs and feet and the upper body of a man with the horns and ears of a goat, and bearded, with wavy or curly hair. Because of this, many people regard him as the origin of the Horned God and many other such figures of faith, including some Christian imagery. In this delightful statue he is shown in traditional form, struggling at his "play" with two nude nymphs, both of whom are portrayed within the traditional Greek images of feminine beauty. Tugging at his arms, the Nymphs seem to laugh and play as Pan digs in his hoofed feet, struggling to keep from going where they tug with a wild expression of dismay upon his face. Indeed it seems one of Pan's tricks has turned back upon him here, creating another legend of the playful antics of the lively Greek god. The whole merry scene has been immortalized in cold cast resin, and hand painted so as to appear to be crafted of bronze. Heavy-weight and classically styled, it measures 7" tall by 7" at its widest point.

Hermes Statue

Hermes, the great messenger of Greek mythology, is a god who is spoken of in a great many legends and myths. Known for the winged sandals that helped him fly, and swiftly carry the messengers of the Gods. Hermes is the god of travelers, those who cross boundaries, shepherds and herdsmen. His cunning and wit also left him viewed as a patron of those who made a living with their charisma and words, even as his trickery left him a patron of thieves and liars. Here he is depicted in a cold-cast resin statue, sculpted with exquisite attention to every detail and hand painted so as to appear to be crafted of bronze. With his winged sandals leaving up a cloud of dust as he flies, and his short robe billowing about his waist, he appears intent upon his travels as he gazes down upon the mortals below; perhaps on some mission of urgency to the gods of Olympus. Measuring in at 9 1/4" high, 7 1/2" wide, and 4 1/2" deep, this statue will easily fit upon most altars for your veneration and can be set upon your shelf or desk to decorate your home.

Brass Kali Statue

Worshipped and even feared within the Hindu faith, Kali is widely revered as the Hindu Goddess associated with eternal energy, and the consort of Shiva. With her very name derived from the word Kala, which means black, time and death, it is understandable why Kali was often feared. As the Goddess of time and change, she is frequently viewed as a force that results in the decay and destruction of all things, and as such was often portrayed as a violent figure of annihilation. One of the most famous legends for which she is known involves her slaying of the demon Raktabija. Legend holds that Durga and others struck out at this demon, but every wound spilt the demon's blood, which in turn created a duplicate of this wicked demon, leaving the Goddess and her fellows outnumbered. It was then they called upon Kali. Kali came forth and caused terror in all who viewed her. Clad in the skin of a tiger and a necklace of skulls, she wielded many weapons but did not use them to defeat Raktabija. Instead she drank the demon's blood, and consumed him and all of his duplicates, leaving them dead as she danced upon the corpses of the fallen, including her consort Shiva. It is a scene from this legend depicted in this fantastic brass statue. It displays the many-armed Kali attacking a demon with all of her wrath; terrible to behold, with her many arms splayed to her sides and her face contorted in wicked glee. But despite this terror for which she is known, Kali has now come to be revered often as a motherly goddess, for despite her terrifying nature the time and destruction she sews provides all with the change and growth that everything needs to prosper. Patanjali (Saint of Yoga) Statue New

Sculpted with exquisite detail from brass, this beautiful statue portrays Patanjali, who is said to be the compiler of the yoga sutras. It is said that Patanjali was even an incarnation of Adi Sesa, who in turn was the first ego-expansion of Visnu, Sanskarshana. Through this, he is sometimes regarded as an incarnation of God, teaching and defending the practice of yoga. Among other traditions, it is said that Patanjali learned yoga as a disciple of the great Guru Handhi Deva, watching Shiva and Kali dance and perform the 108 mystic katanas which formed the foundation of yoga. This brass statue measures 5" high, 3" wide, and 2 1/2" deep, and even provides a small tray that might be used for offerings or incense

Brass Veer Hanuman Statuette New

This small brass statue depicts the figure of Veer Hanuman, a deity known from the Indian Epic Ramayana. General of the army of vanaras, he was fated to aid Rama in the struggle against the demon king Ravana. He is known for his many heroic deeds, and for the curse laid upon him where he can only use his powers when another reminds him that he possesses them. In some sects of Hindu, Hanuman is considered the only lesser deity who may be worshipped in the event of trouble by evil spirits, other than the worship of God through Narayana Kavacha, and numerous shrines and temples can be found dedicated to the monkey-like

God. The statue itself measures approximately 2 3/4" high and 1 3/4" wide.

Orisha Oshun Statue

Oshun, the Orisha of love, maternity, and marriage is a powerful, and frequently revered part of Cuban Santeria and Yoruba culture. She is known as a powerful force of harmony, particularly that which we can sense as beauty, love and pleasure. She is also seen as the only female to have been part of the world's creation, and as such is particularly favored as a mother figure. These benevolent aspects combine with the fact that she is generally seen as among the most likely to answer a prayer to make her one of the most favored among the Orisha. With such a wonderful entity, this statue has a lot to live up to in trying to capture her image. She is portrayed here as a regal woman of beauty, with flowers and pumpkins offered by her feet. Scantly clad in a small top and a flowing, divided skirt, she seems fully at peace with her surroundings, and does indeed live up to the beauty she represents. This statue stands 13 3/4" tall and 6 1/4" wide elegantly sculpted of cold cast resin.

Orisha Chango Statue

One of the most celebrated of the Orisha, Chango (or Shango), is revered as the Sky Father; a spirit and god of thunder and lightning. As such, he is often viewed as the chief spirit and power within Santeria, and many other faiths with a Yoruba background. Before he was deified, he was actually the third king of Oyo, in Yorubaland, and is celebrated for bringing prosperity to his lands, during his life. His worship is said to bring power and self control to his followers, as well the prosperity and protection that he can confer. Here he is portrayed as a powerfully muscular African man, wearing the crown that marks him as King. Wearing the colors that are his symbol, he is dressed in deep red robes, cinched together with a white belt, and is armored in numerous cowrie shells. Viewed as a powerful protector, the mask of Elegua, the Orisha of trickery, is also left by his feet, along with five cowrie shells. A powerful representation of the Sky Father, it measures 15" high, not including the axe that can be removed from his hand, and 7" wide, and is sculpted in cold-cast resin and natural cowrie shells.

Pentagram Altar Box

The wide, square base of this hinged, wooden box flares out to be 7" long and 7" wide, before tapering upwards to the outer dimensions of the box, which measure 6" wide and 6" long, with its sides unadorned but for the seam and hinges which allow it to open up and reveal a wide cavity within. This hinged lid is capped by an ornate top which can function as a miniature altar table, which is particularly handy for those who simply do not have a lot of space. Its surface is equally smooth and undecorated, except for the black stain which lends its coloring to the box, and the intricate, interwoven pentagram which decorates the top. The whole container measures 4" high.

New Pentagram Wishing Box

The sides of this box slope gently, creating a rounded exterior with a wide, flat base and lid. The sides are accented by small metal inlays set into its corners, both making the piece stronger and adding to the aged and elegant feel. The lid itself is hinged and composes half of the box, lifting to reveal the compartment within. Its discrete hinges are barely noticed on its back and its top has been decorated with four metal inlays framing a raised surface bedecked with the inlay of a pentagram. The entire piece is perfect for working your ritual craft, and is sized to contain many ritual items. This is particularly true of small rolls of parchment or paper used to write your wishes upon before you place them in the box, keeping them a secret even as your magical energies help the wish come true. The box measures approximately 4" tall, 5" wide and 5" deep.

Triple Moon Pyramid Box New

Created in a style that very much resembles a pagoda or step pyramid, this triple moon altar box forms a square box at its core, with a lid that slopes backward in a pyramid-like design before ending at a widened, flat top carved with the pattern of a triple moon. This makes it both a powerful symbol of the triple goddess and a great way to charge ritual items upon your altar, as the pyramid is believed to help attract and direct energy. With these two symbols you can place an item within the box and charge it with the divine energy of the Goddess. The box itself measures approximately 5" wide by 4 3/4" deep by 4 1/4" tall. The interior dimensions are approximately 3" by 3" by 2" high.

New Antiqued Wooden Tree of Life Chest

The lower half of this wooden chest has been shaped much like a traditional chest, with a wide base flaring out along its edges supporting a square box. The lid, however, has been carved so as to slope back from its corners until it reaches a flat top, decorated with an elaborate carving of the tree of life. This ancient symbol of the union between heaven and earth has been given a sense of age and wisdom through a coat of green paint that has been antiqued so as to appear to be weathered and touched by time. The whole chest measures approximately 4" high, 8" wide, and 6" deep, with the lid opening on two hinges.

Pentagram Wooden Chest New

Covered in powerful mystic symbolism, this wooden chest is styled in the shape of a traditional chest, with a rectangular base and an arched and hinged lid. It is an elegant piece that easily fits in with most altar tools and decorations; it even features a little small metal latch that allows you to close it with a lock or other such device. The lower half is decorated with intricate patterns created by metal inlays, forming geometric patterns that shine out in a perfect metallic contrast with the black stained wood. The top half, or lid, stands out from this with finely detailed carvings, depicting a triple moon on each of its sides and a triangle at its top, with an interwoven pentagram set within, framed by two long bands of engraved Celtic knots. It stands approximately 7 1/4" tall and 5 1/2" deep, and 6 1/2" wide with lid amounting for approximately half of its total height. $ 33.95 #FBMW06

Measuring approximately 5 1/2" tall and 3 1/4" wide, this bell has been sculpted of brass to present an image of a goddess with a bare chest and tall headdress. With jewels hanging from her neck and the regal headdress, she appears very similar to the ancient Egyptian goddess Hathor; a deity of music, dance, and fertility. Carved so as to be open in the bottom and containing a ringing bell, it can easily serve as a bell within your ritual crafts. Alternatively, its open top can readily support a taper candle or chime candle and can be closed with a lid to burn cone incense. Use it into your ritual craft and take delight in the many ways you can bring the Goddess into your ritual magick.

Om Mani Padme Hum Tingsha Cymbals New

Displaying the Tibetan Buddhist mantra of "Om Mani Padme Hum," these Tingsha, or cymbals, are a lovely tool used within meditation. The mantra literally translates into "Aum, to the Jewel in the Lotus, hum" and is perhaps most frequently used to invoke the Bodhisattva of Compassion, and meditating upon it is a common practice for cleansing both the mind and spirit. The Tingsha themselves are traditionally used by holding the leather cord that connects them at their center and swinging the chimes together so that they ring loudly or holding them together with a gentle tap for a softer ringing tone. In either case, they are sometimes used to bring a student back into focus during meditation as well as to note the beginning and end of a meditation session. Measuring just under 3" in diameter, these Tingsha cymbals have been cast from brass.

Dragon Tingsha Cymbals

Also known as ting-sha, these small symbols are used within prayer and spiritual rituals. Thick, and made of brass, they possess a unique sound quality that is used within deep meditation, and to provide healing sounds and vibration. These ting-sha, or Tibetan cymbals, portray two dragons, encircling each disk, while the undersides have been engraved with Tibetan characters. Strung together upon a leather cord, each measures approximately 3" in diameter.

Brass Bell and Dorje with Striker

Frequently used within Buddhist rituals, the bell and Dorje are powerful symbols, referring to masculine and feminine powers within the universe. The Dorje is actually viewed by some as a weapon, or the irresistible power of spirituality. The bell in turn is viewed as a representative of the wisdom of emptiness, and the serenity found within. Together they represent the balance of these masculine and feminine powers, and the enlightenment found in wisdom and compassion. In this case, the bell and dorje are skillfully crafted of brass. The bell measures 3 1/5" in diameter and 6" high, and is engraved with a repeating pattern reminiscent of the traditional patterns found in the tools of Tibet. The dorje, possessing somewhat of a more golden coloring than the bell, measures only 4" long and fits easily into your hand or between your fingers. Also coming with the set is a 5 1/2" long wooden striker, allowing you to ring the bell within your ceremony by striking its rim.

Brass Tibetan Dripu Bell and Dorje Set with Striker

In meditation the Dripu represents purity and the feminine (yum) principle; the Dorje represents the masculine principle (yab). Meant to bring Universal Harmony into one's life. Pleasant ringing from the Dripu and the absorption of evil from the Dorje will create a solid foundation for a balanced life. Crafted in Nepal and made of solid brass, the bell stands 5 1/2" high with a 3 1/2" long dorje.

Tibetan Altar Bell

Created in the Tibetan style, this hand bell has a handle shaped into the image of one end of a Dorje; a weapon and tool often found within Buddhist imagery within the hands of Gods and spirits. Beneath this handle flares the bronze bell, decorated with black paint so as to display flowing Tibetan script within the natural bronze coloring. Coming with a 4 1/2" long puja stick, or the wooden stick used to strike the bell, this hand bell measures 2 1/2" diameter at its widest point and 4 3/4" long.

Bronze Tibetan Hand Bell and Puja Stick

Used both as an aid in mystical rituals and a balancing force unto itself, the hand bell and Puja stick are powerful implements, both symbolically and in the effect they offer on energies. With the left hand holding the bell and the right holding the Puja stick, the bell is struck. This harmonizes the room in which the bell rings, with the resonance bringing both negative and positive energies into a state of balance. This is frequently used as an aid in Feng Shui, as well as in other prayer and magical rituals. The bell itself is of ornate bronze, standing 5" tall and 3 3/4" in diameter. The Puja stick is made of wood, and is 4 1/2" in length and 1" in diameter, and is contoured to fit easily in your hand.

18" Gong

This archetypical instrument can be used to signify the beginning of spells, ceremonies, and all manner of ritual practices. As with many other bells, the gong is believed to be of wonderful use in meditation and prayer, and can be wrung to help create spiritual vibrations that can dispel negativity and attract the positive. Indeed, the distinctive notes of its ring (which vary slightly depending on where the gong is struck), cannot help but to stir the sense that something important is starting or ending whenever the sound reaches your ears. This particular gong has been hand-crafted from fine brass, resulting in an instrument that rings with beautifully pure notes when it is struck. Measuring approximately 18" in diameter, its outer rim is approximately 3" deep, while the rounded, convex bell at its center extends outward over 1", and measures 5" in diameter. It comes with a wood-handled, felt-lined mallet. Hang it from its leather strap within your sacred space, and bring good vibrations to your sanctuary.

Tibetan Prayer Wheel

A traditional aspect of Tibetan meditation and prayer, the prayer wheel is traditionally used with a mantra, or prayer, to aid in seeking the deeper rewards of meditation. This particular prayer wheel consists of a container handcrafted out of copper and brass and fitted to a long, polished wood handle. This container allows you to wind your written mantra or prayer around a center spool, personalizing your meditation and prayer with the carefully written mantra. Indeed, the act of writing this prayer or mantra can be a form of meditation that is widely considered spiritually purifying all by itself. With your mantra within, the cap is then replaced before being carefully rotated in a clockwise fashion, with the brass weight strung upon it spinning it in a clockwise rotation as you focus upon the enlightenment found within meditation. The entire piece measures approximately 11 1/2" long.

Tibetan Singing Bowls

A powerful instrument of meditation and prayer, the singing bowl is sometimes used to accompany mudras, sadras and other such hymns and prayers. The vibration that is felt in the brass when it is struck and played is often held to help remove negative energy and help find peace in meditation, aligning the chakras, and other such ritual practice. Much like other bells and noise makers, they can also be used in chasing off evil spirits, or otherwise cleansing a ritual space before intensive prayer and ritual magick. These particular singing bowls are decorated with an elaborate Tibetan script around their outer surface, with further symbols of religious significance embossed in their inner surface, all surrounding an image of Buddha, sitting in the lotus position within the petals of the lotus flower, cupping a singing bowl in one hand. These bowls each come with a wooden, leather-coated hammer with which to make it sing.

Green Onyx Chalice Pair

Sculpted entirely of green onyx, this set of two chalices is an absolute marvel of craftsmanship, presenting sharp lines and graceful, sweeping curves that give the cups a sort of elegance that one rarely associates with stone. While this alone would make them a prized addition to an altar, ceremony or magical rite, there is the additional benefit that green onyx has a long tradition of being a stone useful in helping to achieve success, as well as being used in grounding energy to aid in healing. These properties can be transferred to whatever is kept within the chalice, or otherwise used to help empower your ritual magic. Each chalice measures approximately 7 3/4" tall and 2 3/4" in diameter at its widest point, and is carved into a simple design where its narrow mouth flares out to a wider cup and then tapers back to a cylindrical stem and flat, disk shaped base. Made of one piece of green onyx, each chalice has its own unique pattern within the stone, displaying the waves of layered green, white, and burgundy coloring. To aid with safe transportation and storage of these wonderful pieces, these chalices come in a blue, velveteen box that closes with two clasps, helping to ensure that they do not rattle, shake or otherwise suffer damage from spills and bumps.

Leaf of God Herbal Smoking Mix New

Calea zacatechichi (or dream leaf, or leaf of God) is an herb that was often used by the Chantel Indians of Mexico, who are widely regarded as part of the ancient Mayan Empire, to obtain divinatory messages through dreams. It is still used as a tea or smoke before sleeping to help induce these powerful dream messages. Also blended into this herbal smoking mix are the herbs lemongrass, lobelia and raspberry leaf. Lobelia is sometimes prescribed to help smokers quit smoking, as it offers the same effects as nicotine without the addictive qualities, and can help calm the mind and body. Lemongrass and raspberry are widely respected for their healing and cleansing qualities. Sit back with the Leaf of God herbal smoking mix in your pipe and relax into a state of consciousness that is dreamy and euphoric... It can truly be described as spiritual. $ 18.95 #BBBU076

Black Cat Pentagram

This journal displays a pentacle made of interwoven branches, it contains a crescent moon, decorated with Celtic knots, and a black cat sitting in the moon. The back cover reads: "Bide within the Law you must, In perfect Love and perfect Trust, Live you must and let to live, Fairly take and fairly give. For tread the Circle thrice about, To keep unwelcome spirits out, To bind the spell well every time, Let the spell be said in rhyme."

$ 18.95 #BBBU035

Dragon Journal New

This blank book features the elaborate image of a dragon sculpted into its front cover. Depicted as a portrait, with the dragon's scaly features somehow conveying a sense of ancient wisdom, it is framed in the mingled graceful and jagged arches and design of Gothic styling. It measures approximately 6 3/4" wide and 7 3/4" tall.

$ 16.95 #BBBU105

Strangeling Collection Cold-Cast Resin Journals

From the Strangeling Collection of Jasmine Becket-Griffith, these blank journals, inspired by her art, seek to bring some magic and fantasy playfully into your life. Like the other cold-cast resin journals, they measure 8" by 5 1/2"; however, each of these comes with a matching, decorative pen that writes in black ink.

Devilish Fairy Journal with Pen

The front of this journal has a youthful fairy with red wings similar to those of a bat and a slim devil's tail set against a black background. Clad in red and black striped leggings and a red top and skirt that give the impression of flames, her blue eyes are full of mischief and guile. The image on the back cover shows a woven circle of Celtic knots. $17.95 #BBBU945

Fairy Voodoo Journal with Pen

Entwined Dragons Leather Blank Book

The brown leather of this book seems to show the mark of ages, though it is sturdy and solid with its corners bound in metal. There are no decorative engravings on its back or spine; however, on its front there is the stylized image of two dragons, entwined together so that their bodies would seem as one, with only two wings flaring out to the side as they stare each other down. It contains approximately 200 pages, within this 9" by 5 1/2" cover. $35.00 #BBBCDRAE

Leather-Bound Blank Books

Helping to create a safe place for you to store the secrets of your spellcraft, these books are hand stitched and bound in leather. Except when noted otherwise, a leather cord winds around the journal to bind the cover closed when not in use. Within this fantastic exterior, you will find blank pages that are completely chemical and acid free, and indeed are not even made of tree-pulp! Each page is made from cotton scraps found on the floor of garment factories and recycled biomass, such as fruit and vegetable husks. They are thick, with a visible grain, making them well suited for heavier inks and even watercolor, provided an excess of water is not used. This provides the perfect surface for you to inscribe the magical diagrams that you have been crafting, pen sketches of your dreams, or otherwise prepare your magical workings.

God's Eye Leather Blank Book

This 6" by 9" leather-bound blank book has a precious stone fixed into its face. The stone in each book is different, and as such the hand embossed design crafted into the leather surrounding it is different as well, being hand-designed to complement the stone. Empower the stone within its face with whatever spell or energy you might want to use to keep your journal or book of shadows safe and secure.

Solstice Leather Blank Book

Portraying both the sacred Solstices, this 4 1/2" by 6 1/2", 300 page journal is a wonderful representative of time passing throughout the year. The leather surface portrays the sun for both the winter and summer solstice in a stylized fashion, two separate images divided by the binding, which has been styled as the sweeping trunk of a tree. The vines and leaves portrayed create Celtic knots, with patterns within the sun and the shadows it casts.

$ 35.00 #BBBCSOL

Hand-Painted Flower Leather Blank Book
With the flare born of unique beauty, this 6" by 9" journal displays a beautiful array of hand painted flowers, painted into the embossed leather in a fashion that creates a glassy texture, making the reds of roses resonate with a deep, rich color and the yellow of lilies absolutely shine. It is approximately 120 pages in length.

$ 35.00 #BBBCFLO

Southwest Side Stitched Leather Blank Book

Each of these books is slightly different, with its own unique, hand-worked leather binding and elaborate scrollwork engraved into the surface of the cover, and a border of tightly braided leather cord. Measuring approximately 9" by 6 1/2", it closes with an elastic and contains around 260 pages.

Antique Leather Blank Book
Creating a rough, weathered look and feel, this beautiful 4 1/2" by 6 1/2" journal is bound in antiqued leather that takes on a wrinkled and faded appearance that gives the impression of an old, aged book. This blank book is approximately 300 pages in length.

$ 35.00 #BBBCANT

Buffalo Hunter Leather Blank Book

Created with leather intentionally worked so as to appear rough, coarse and rugged, this book looks as though it may easily have been plucked from the saddlebag of some drifter of the plains, who stitched it together with the leather he gathered from his own hunt. Measuring approximately 5" by 7", it contains around 300 pages.

$ 35.00 #BBBCBUF

Fighting Griffin Leather Blank Book

A rampant griffin graces the front cover of this book with an intricate pattern of scrollwork around it, making it seem as though it is straight out of a Victorian or gothic work of art. Measuring 5" by 7", it contains 240 pages, and closes with an elastic band that loops around a leather button.

$ 35.00 #BBBCGRI

Wild Horses Leather Blank Book

Long viewed as a symbol for freedom, and wild, unfettered strength, a herd of wild horses is portrayed on this journal. Portrayed with vivid detail, everything from the horses' wild eyes to their free-flowing manes can be discerned easily against a background of Midwestern design. Within this 7" by 5" cover, you will find approximately 360 pages of paper.

Angels Leather Blank Book

Embossed in orange-dyed leather, this 5" by 6 1/2" book portrays the beautiful design of two angels with large feathered wings. Upon the front you see one that seemingly has stars in her gown, with her hands raised to offer a bowl that overflows with magic. Upon the back, similarly robed in stars, is an angel in flight, raising in her hands a crescent moon and a wheel shaped into the image of a Celtic Cross. Both framed in Celtic Knotwork, these angels provide a beautiful accent to the 360 pages within. $ 35.00 #BBBCANG

Fighting Dragon Leather Blank Book

Providing a clever bit of imagery, this book displays two dragons, one on each cover, as though they are staring each other down across the binding in a battle of wills. Upon the front you will find a dragon coiled about a castle; a creature of order and civilization, standing regal and proud. Upon the back you'll find a coiled dragon of the wood lands, feral and wild in its majesty, encircling the grove of trees that it protects. Representing both sides of man and magic, they are both accented perfectly with a border of Celtic knots and other such imagery. Measuring 6 3/4" by 5", this book contains approximately 360 pages. $ 35.00 #BBBCDRAF

Fairy Leather Blank Book

Beautifully bound within red-dyed leather, this delightful journal has been carefully embossed on the front face with the image of a beautiful fairy, lithe and robed in gossamer with the wings of a butterfly, all framed within an elaborate border of Celtic knotwork. This knotwork extends down the binding, and expands to embrace the picture on the back which shows a dragonfly, hovering among flowers. Within this 7" by 5 1/2" leather casing, you will find approximately 300 blank pages. $ 35.00 #BBBCFAI

Goddess Leather Blank Book

This thick, green-dyed leather 4 1/2" by 6 1/2" journal displays on its covers two very distinct views of the Goddess. On the front she would seem a wholesome being, nurturing and gentle as she sits in the lotus position before a backdrop of a woven Celtic pattern. With her chest bared but for her concealing hair, she embraces a starry night in her hands, from which pours the waters of life. On the back cover is the Goddess of womanly wrath, beautiful even as she is frightening. This beautiful duality, shows us how the Goddess provides and destroys as a part of life's cycle. $ 35.00 #BBBCGOD

Tree of Life Leather Blank Book

Bedecked in wonderful Celtic imagery, this 4 1/2" by 6 1/2" journal portrays the tree of life, with its far reaching branches snarled in a twisting canopy of Celtic knots and leafy foliage. Beneath this, the tree contorts into an ancient warped trunk and deep roots that spread out into a wide design of Celtic knotwork. This ancient imagery shows us the interconnected nature of all things both of the Heavens and of Earth. On the reverse side a similarly embossed and inked image showing a peaceful forest stream with fish leaping from its waters, pouring through a ring of Celtic symbols. $ 35.00 #BBBCTRE

Griffin Leather Sketch Book

Held closed with an elastic band and a leather button, the cover of this large book is coated in ornate decorations sculpted and embossed into the high quality leather. This creates an elaborate framework of Victorian or gothic styled checker and floral patterns on both sides. Highlighting all of this is the image of a rearing griffin, with its wings spread, grasping a serpent beneath its claws. It contains approximately 80 pages within its 10" by 13" cover. $ 49.00 #BBBCSKE

HEALING

500 Formulas for Aromatherapy	Shiller / Shiller	$ 12.95	Modern Herbal vol. 1 New by Mrs M Grieve If you want to know how pleurisy root, lungwort and abscess root got their names, how poison ivy is used to treat rheumatism, or how garlic guarded against the Bubonic Plague, consult A Modern Herbal. This twentieth-century version of the medieval Herbal is as rich in scientific fact and folklore as its predecessors and is equally encyclopedic in coverage. From aconite to zedoary, not an herb, grass, fungus, shrub or tree is overlooked; and strange and wonderful discoveries about even the most common plants await the reader. Traditionally, an herbal combined the folk beliefs and tales about plants, the medicinal properties (and parts used) of the herbs, and their botanical classification. But Mrs. Grieve has extended and enlarged the tradition; her coverage of asafetida, bearberry, broom, chamomile, chickweed, dandelion, dock, elecampane, almond, eyebright, fenugreek, moss, fern, figwort, gentian, Hart's tongue, indigo, acacia, jaborandi, kava kava, lavender, pimpernel, rhubarb, squill, sage, thyme, sarsaparilla, unicorn root, valerian, woundwort, yew, etc. (more than 800 varieties in all!) includes in addition methods of cultivation; the chemical constituents, dosages, and preparations of extracts and tinctures, unknown to earlier herbalists; possible economic and cosmetic properties, and detailed illustrations, from root to bud, of 161 plants. Of the many exceptional plants covered in the Herbal, perhaps the most fascinating are the poisonous varieties (hemlock, poison oak, aconite, etc) whose poisons, in certain cases, serve medicinal purposes and whose antidotes (if known) are given in detail. And of the many unique features, perhaps the most interesting are the hundreds of recipes and instructions for making ointments, lotions, sauces, wines, and fruit brandies like bilberry and carrot jam, elderberry and mint vinegar, sagina sauce, and cucumber lotion for sunburn; and the hundreds of prescriptions for tonics and liniments and bronchitis, arthritis, dropsy, jaundice, nervous tension, skin disease, etc. remedies. With this and more, A Modern Herbal contains so much information that it must be provided in two volumes. This, the first volume, is a 427 page soft cover book. $ 16.95

Sephher Raziel: Liber Salomonis New
by Karr/Skinner (ed)
Sephher Raziel (also called Liber Salomonis) is not the same as the Hebrew "Sephher Reziel ha-Melakh." It is a full grimoire in the Solomon tradition from a 1564 century English manuscript, derived from Latin sources. As such it is one of the earliest grimoires produced in this series. It begins with directions for making the parchment, pen and ink of Art, required to write the names. It contains seven separate treatises: "Liber Clavis" which is concerned with astrology and its correct use in magic, something long forgotten by modern astrologers, with the precise interactions between planets, signs and houses. The "Ala" outlines in four sections the magical virtues of stones, herbs and beasts, and words. The "Tractatus Thymiamatus" explains why incense is essential to magical operations, and the effect of various incenses on the spirits, with a list of the key perfumes and suffumigations. The "Treatise of Times" gives details of the correct hours of the day and night for each operation, with associated angels and the proper names of the sun, moon and planets to be used in each season. This is something left out of almost all other grimoires. The "Treatis on Purity" explains the exact preparations and reasons for ritual purity. "Samain" is a treatise on the seven heavens, with the names of their angels. The "Book of Virtues and Miracles" is a treatise on the Semiforas, the names of God, and how they are to be used in invocation to produce miraculous results. $ 65.00

By Land Sky & Sea New by Gede Parma

For Witches and Pagans of all traditions and paths, By Land, Sky and Sea will help you develop an intimate understanding of the magickal lore and traditions of modern shamanic pathworking. Based upon the Celtic realms of land, sky, and sea, this wise and unique explores the ancient trinity and its Greek, Hawaiian, Hindu, Stregheria, and Wiccan customs. Gede Parma guides you through effective methods for working in the three realms, culminating in powerful rituals for each. Gain basic skills in breathwork, omenwalking, divination, and celebrating the body through dance. Learn techniques for energy work and expanding consciousness, such as astral projection, clearing and balancing the chakras, and clairvoyance. Enact true shamanic practices of trance, vision journeying, channeling, oracle reading, initiation, and rebirth.

Witchcraft on a Shoestring New

by Deborah Blake

Practicing Witchcraft doesn't have to cost an arm, a leg and a broomstick! From homemade tools to frugal feasts to thrifty home decoration, Deborah Blake offers economical tips and suggestions for stretching your dollar while enriching your practice. She gives clear, simple instructions for making your own magickal oils, runes, tarot cards, candles, jewelry, charms, and wands, all using inexpensive materials. Choose from over fifty ways to practice Witchcraft that cost little or no money, and try more than forty recipes for tasty sabbat dishes that cost ten dollars or less. With a sprinkling of imagination and a touch of magick, you can add to your inner wealth of spirituality on a shoestring budget. After all, the best parts of being a Witch are always free. $ 15.95

New Bach Flowers Oracle Deck by Canapini

The Bach Flowers Oracle deck is a fascinating study of the powers of flowers. Following the studies of Edward Bach, who intuitively explored and discovered the healing properties of various flowering plants in a life-long quest to discover the ways in which his fellow man could heal themselves. Using the flowers that he discovered to be most important for this purpose, it creates a system of discover that can help you intuitively understand the puzzles of life and help you heal the woes that you experience. Draw a card, and discover how they can recognize your mood and help you find your own well being. This set comes with a large introductory book and a 38 card deck. $ 22.95

Here at AzureGreen, we continually strive to bring you the best possible products, prices, and service while still holding true to our core values of honoring the earth that nurtures us, working together for the betterment of our community and customers, and most importantly, supporting all paths to the divine and the journey of spiritual seekers from all walks of life. Since we began working in our beautiful green-designed Beltane Hill building, we've worked each month to improve every aspect of your AzureGreen experience. With every passing month our packaging becomes a little bit greener, more customer requested products line our shelves, and we learn so much more about the spiritual and magical traditions from all around the world that have found a home in the hearts of our customers.

While we pride ourselves on being an amazing mail order company, with great customer service and a shipping staff that send out your orders within 24 business hours of receiving them, we urge all of our customers to support their local stores whenever possible. Not only does this help their business to bloom and grow, but it also allows you to get the hands-on experience of the energy and feel of the magical tools that are so important to your craft. If you cannot find the products you are looking for already on their shelves, just bring in your AzureGreen catalog and show them what you seek, we will be glad to help them fulfill your requests.

If you are interested in knowing a little more about us and what we are working on, you can take a look at our growing community website www.BeltaneHill.com or look for our frequently updated Facebook page and join in the fun and conversation taking place there, where we post pictures, information about new products, special offers, spiritual events and more!
